EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

I have been employed within the public health sector in Canada and Australia working with children, adolescents and their families presenting with chronic and complex mental health concerns. I am experienced in conducting mental health and neuropsychological assessments as well as providing individual, group and family therapy interventions. I have predominantly worked within adolescent inpatient settings and have particular experience designing and implementing group programs for these high risk individuals. I have been trained in both cognitive and dialectical behaviour therapies as well as family therapy modalities.

In addition to this I have worked within the out-of-home care sector for NSW Health and a non-government provider. This involved assessment and treatment of children, young people and carers who have experienced complex trauma. I have also lectured on child protection at the University of Sydney and recently presented at the International Childhood Trauma Conference. I am a Board Approved supervisor and have provided both group and individual supervision to psychology trainees as well as professionals from other disciplines.
